FOREWORD

Go Ann-
your a swell girl and I wish you the best of luck.

School life is like an issue of a newspaper.

The poignant silence is broken. Slow bass hum of presses—staccato whines—baritone whirrs—cylinders spinning into activity. Heavy-eyed custodians send the sleepy echos chasing round the corners, down corridors and into every hall bringing the rooms to life once more. Cub reporters shyly wandering down halls—losing their way—mixing their tasks—becoming confused—learning the ropes. Undaunted they work up to the next level. Superior to incoming cubs—more confidence and bravado—forgetting their own silly blunders—awed by star reporters. These have gained the top. Handling the toughest jobs—using their initiative and imagination—sure of their way. Theirs is a goal achieved.

But they are not all that make up this gigantic newspaper for without the editors to guide them, send them on their various ways, and lend them a helping hand, they could not reach their goal. Keep behind the scenes—asking no credit—watching for little mistakes—keeping the mighty presses rolling—devoting extra hours. Now with the editors at their desks, reporters on their different missions and the presses in full swing the exciting day is underway. Hours fly—completed material assembled—reporters in and out on various beats. Swiftly the deadline draws near, tension mounts as all hurry to get copy in and leave for the day.

Suddenly the hour is passed, things are well on their way and the gigantic presses groan slower and slower murmuring to a stop. Silence once again settles its blanket slowly down upon the offices. The last tasks are completed and the late-working members pull on their coats and with tired but pleased smiles slide out into the street leaving the still presses ready for the next issue. Indeed, school life is like an issue of a newspaper.

Roads of luck

With never a dull moment, or as the printing students put it, never a spare moment, the printing department has been going full strength this year, doing many jobs for Topeka high.

In the midst of an assortment of machines, each made for a different type of job, the students have worked diligently in making passes and many different articles for the administration.

"Old Lee," the 28-year-old cylinder printing press, has been a friend to many of the students, who run for whenever one of its old worn parts collapse. Old Lee with the help of the students prints the World 30 times a year.

The Inkslingers, a club formed by the advanced printers perform many objectives during the year such as printing the name cards for the graduating seniors. The club with its officers will have a private party and dance this year. Though the printing department receives much glory for their achievements they are proud of their achievements and are happy to know how Topeka high profits by it.

Led by Vice-President Jock Miller, the Student Council, upper house of Topeka High's Student Congress gives Trojans a direct voice in their government when they sponsor Student Congress week. An entire week is set aside to inform the students on activities of the Congress and to give them an opportunity to make suggestions for improvements. The annual All-School Party is another project of the council. This year the council has put through a long awaited bill giving debaters letters similar to those awarded to athletes.

On the shoulders of Ralph Johnson, Council Attorney, rests the responsibility of keeping the proceedings in agreement with parliamentary rules. Other officers are Larry Shiner, vice-speaker; Jane Henry, secretary; and Jean

Consisting of one representative from each home room, the Representative Council meets under the leadership of Speaker of the House Jerry Dawson, to do their share in governing the school. They sell Activity Tickets and are responsible for the Homecoming festivities. They ratify bills which have passed the Student Council, discuss legislation concerning school problems and recommend bills for various improvements.

Council Attorney Keith Schulte upholds parliamentary procedure at the meetings. Karl Schowengerdt is vice-speaker; Althea Bromich, secretary; and Cynthia Davis, treasurer. Miss Grace Van Tries serves as faculty adviser.

ADVISERS SMOOTH ROAD

The star role of the newspaper publishers is filled by the members of the Board of Education headed by Kelsey H. Petro, president, and Charles Bennett, vice-president. A. H. Saville Mrs. David Neiswanger, Kenneth B. Hobbs, and Marlin S. Casey are also members. Miss Elizabeth Donaldson is treasurer, and Mrs. Thelma Mifflin, clerk-business manager. Dr. Kenneth McFarland is Superintendent of Topeka schools.

Although these men and women are constantly active in business and social circles, they manage to find time to give thought to school problems. Using the latest text books, employing the best teachers, help make the finest school and the most efficient Board of Education.

The managing editors, E. B. Weaver, principal, Dr. Giles Theilmann, vice-principal, Miss Annabel Pringle, dean of girls, and Kenneth H. Meyers, dean of boys direct activities and curriculum at Topeka High.

FACULTY

TEACHERS GUIDE PUPILS

As city editors, the faculty has the hard job of managing the paper. They act as the buffer between the managing editors and the reporters, between the Administration and the students. They come early and stay late in order to make every day count. It is not until the reporters gain a position of responsibility that they are able to appreciate the headaches and the heartaches of the people whom they looked upon as having no troubles.

Thanks to the sympathy and friendliness of our city editors, their understanding when things go wrong, our years at high school are happy ones. By working with them the sometimes painful job of learning is made more enjoyable for all. We may not remember all we are taught, but we will never forget the lessons in patience and wisdom we learn from them.

We are not forgetting the office workers who add those little touches to our school life, organizing the bulletins, selling tickets for games and parties, and in general coordinating all the activities so that they run smoothly.

Our senior year is a year of beginnings and endings. It is the same life we have led for two years but yet it is different. We no longer have anyone above us. We have now graduated to the top through dint of much labor and many good times. We are now the star reporters and the ones to whom the others look for guidance. Now we have to lead the way and set the examples.

This feeling of importance is rather overpowering, but once in a while we stop and realize that we can't turn back the clock. These are our last parties, our last days in these halls. We want to stop time and make the fun we are having, go on forever. Then we look ahead at the new horizons that lie before us, loving the old but wanting the new. We will always treasure in our memory every moment of our glorious life in Topeka High.

Bookstores fill to overflowing as students purchase books for the coming year.

PROJECTS INDUCE THOUGHT

FUN AS WELL AS STUDIES LIVEN LIFE

Equipped with ladder and tools, stagecraft student Frank Herdicka erects scenery.

"Studying isn't always so dull," chuckles Miss Ethel Frizell's 5 hour American History and Government class.

Friends and food make cafeteria enjoyable break in routine.

WORLD REQUI

Fall Editor

DICK ROACH
Fall Business Manager

Late August brings thoughts of recreation to everyone except the World staff. They are already busily collecting news, editing and printing the copy, a forecast of their activities yet to come. The Fall journalists, under the direction of Dave McMullen, editor, and Dick Roach, business manager, cover the football games, Homecoming ceremonies, the Masque and Wig play, the Christmas parties, and an endless number of student activities. The "Question of the Week" column which had been attempted before became a permanent feature in the Fall World.

A new semester brings a new team, Jim Bennett, editor, with Sara Jane Billings, business manager, to take over the worries. Spring sports, two plays, an operetta combined with regular columns and other current news keep the staff working steadily. They finally give way under the strain to produce a madcap April Fool issue. Order is restored when the future editor and business manager try their hand at producing a paper.

Juniors are the "in-between" class. We aren't the star reporters but we have graduated from the ranks of cubs. We are no longer hesitant and awkward but now enter into each assignment with our natural bubbling energy and though we have not yet gained the rank of seniors our cup of knowledge is fast becoming full. We are looking forward to the next year but as long as we are juniors we are the very best juniors we know how to be.

We sponsor a play and do our level best to make the Junior-Senior Prom the best one yet. We serve our school, too, not only through studies but by joining the school clubs and organizations and giving to them our time, enthusiasm and hard work. We cheer our teams through victory and defeat. Although we are just "in-betweens" we are the link that holds the school together.

COUNCILS SPONSOR SCHOOL PROJECTS

SENIOR GIRLS PLAY BUSBOY

Under the direction of Miss Annabel Pringle, the forty-six girls of the Senior Girls' Council carry on various projects for the betterment of the school. These girls are elected by joint vote of the teachers and senior girls. This year they wrapped Christmas packages and entertained at the State Hospital. During Open House they carried the trays of food for the parents and directed them to their seats in the cafeteria. They sponsored an All Girl Party to help the sophomores get acquainted.

In the second year of its existence, the Senior Boys' Council also has helped with many jobs. The council is composed of twenty senior boys, one from each of the senior homerooms, who work under the direction of Kenneth Meyers. During the State Zone School they guided the teachers and aided the school in many other ways.

DELMONT HADLEY
President

As sophomores, we have a lot to look forward to. We are cub reporters, only starting out on this new adventure, with a field of activities and learning spread out before us. Ours is the job to start at the bottom, taking the small, unwanted assignments and doing them well. At our beautiful Induction Assembly we realize the responsibility that is ours as beginners, to grow with and for the school, to make ours the best ever. We do the traditional things that have always been done, but we add an enthusiasm that is ours alone. We give a wonderful Sophomore Party, enter whole-heartedly into school politics and elect our own representatives.

As friendly and eager to please as young puppies, we don't even mind being called "sub-scrubs" because we know that it is all a part of becoming a Trojan.

JOURNALISM INVOLVES EFFORT

TROJANS WRITE FOR PUBLICATIONS

Members of the Quill and Scroll, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, are chosen from the juniors and seniors who give hours of thought and effort to the "World" and "Sunflower." Their skill makes the journalism department one of the best in the state. Jim Bennett, president, is aided by Dave McMullen, vice-president, and Martha Jo Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

Whether they are folding "Worlds" or copy reading, the members of the Junior Press Club are the apprentices of the newspaper world. They are the journalists of the future.

Always on the alert, the photographers' job is one of the most important on the annual for pictures play a major part in the book and the photographers make the pictures. This lively staff consists of seniors Larry Christian, Bill Mains, and Milton Messick, aided by Paul Dibble, junior.

TRADE SCHOOL

Vocational Electricity teaches Bill Reece how to repair a motor.

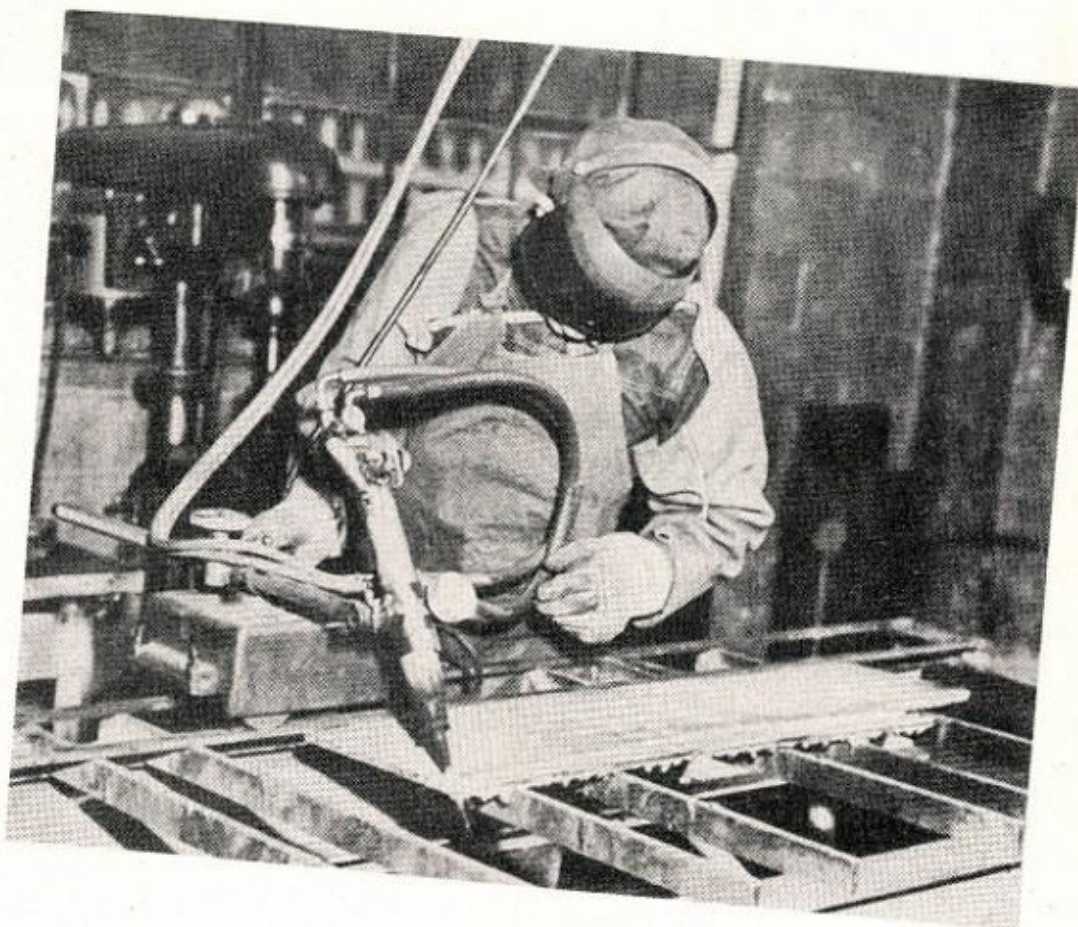

For those who wish to obtain practical learning in high school about the job at which they will make their living, the Topeka Trade School offers infinite opportunities in varied fields. Available not only to high school students but to others as well, the Trade School benefits the whole community.

Robert Short and Robert Diepenbrock check movie equipment in preparation for an assignment in Vocational Photography.

TRAINS FOR FUTURE

VARIOUS SKILLS

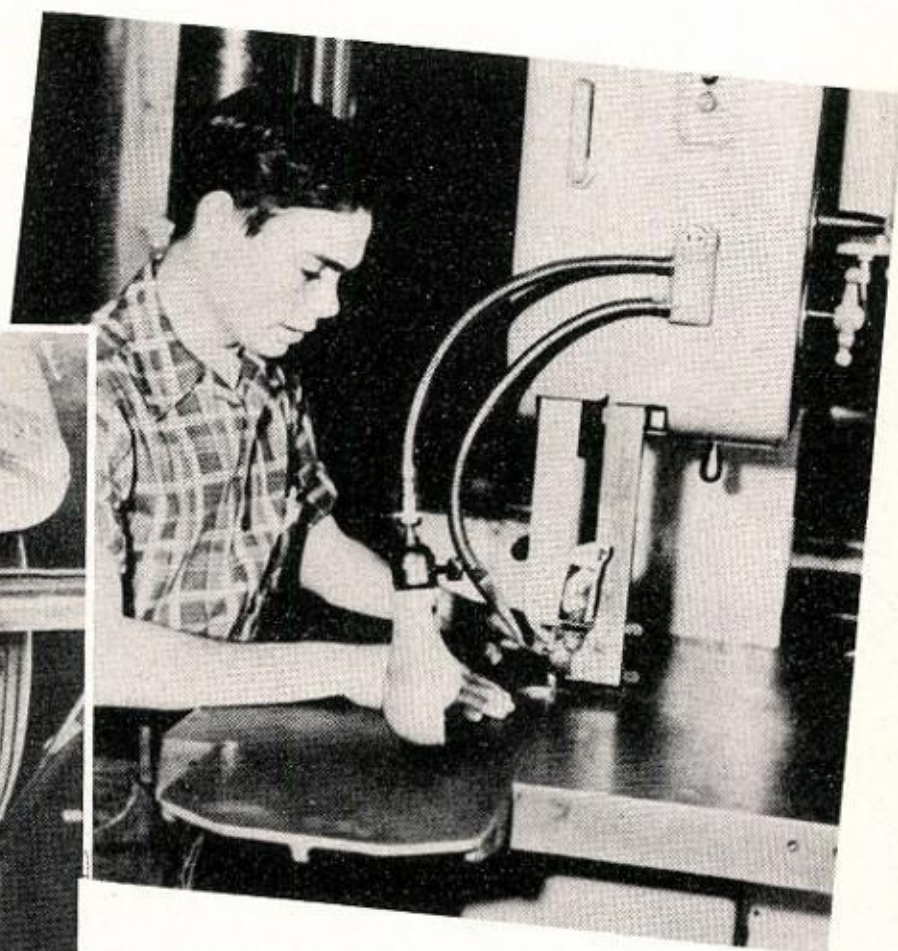

David Perez cuts steel plate with radiograph machine cutting torch in Vocational Welding.

Three hours of each afternoon are spent in the Trade School by Topeka High School Juniors and Seniors enrolled in one of the six vocational classes — Arc and Acetylene Welding, Auto Mechanics, Electricity, Machine Shop, Photography and Radio Mechanics. During the forenoon they attend regular classes.

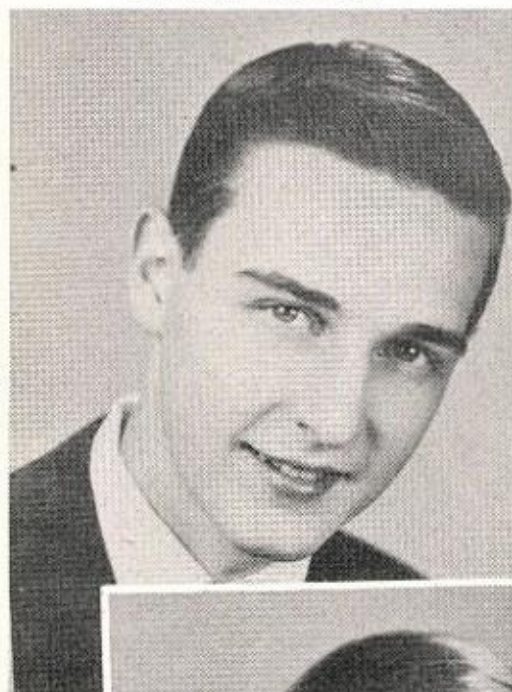

The most modern methods taught by competent, well-qualified teachers enable the Trade School to turn out self-sufficient boys who know their job thoroughly.

Vocational Machine Shop teaches Edward Derby how to operate metal cutting band saw.

HALLS SHOW COMING ELECTION

With all the anticipation and excitement of national elections, Trojans once again engage in the competition for office. Weird costumes appear in the halls. Bands march up and down advertising their candidates. Posters, streamers, cards, and pins decorate the halls and litter the floors. After the primary election an assembly is presented by those still in the running. Stump speeches are given by the candidates. Everything from gangsters and quiz programs to chorus lines blossom forth to catch the student's fancy and bring the candidates votes.

Behind all this buzz of activity are the guiding hands of Dick Mai, election Commissioner, Barbara Bradstreet, election clerk, and G. C. Rieniets, faculty advisor. It is through their efforts that things run smoothly, votes are counted, and the election is brought to an exciting close.

Equipped with sleeping bags and blankets Stan Lamar, Jerry Bray and Kay Stewart relax in hall.

Troy Janes go western as they attended the annual All-Girl Party. Cowgirls complete with cowboy boots, ten gallon hats, and six shooters take over the cafeteria prepared to enjoy the program presented by the Senior Girls' Council and Miss Annabel Pringle. A melodrama filled with Indians, cowboys, and a horse keep all entertained. As a grand finale everyone whirls through a regular old-time square-dance.

The birthday of the Marines, otherwise known as Bill Adams day, is incorporated into the varied program of the Sophomore Party. Sponsored by James Hill and the officers of the Sophomore class the lower classmen show their talent. Highlights of the program are several vocal solos, a novel broom dance, and a rainy day quartet.

The evening reaches its climax with the long awaited crowning of the All-School Party King and Queen. Down the aisle come the attendants, being introduced by Jock Miller. Then as they are crowned King Eddie Ridgeway and Queen Becky Thacher, another wonderful couple joining Troy's Hall of Fame.

ACTORS PUT IN OVER-TIME

Highest of honors to be received by a budding actor or actress is a membership in the National Thespian Society. Only those students who have had 75 lines or more in a play or held a major staff position are eligible.

The Thespians, sponsored by dramatics teacher, Miss Gertrude Wheeler, have elected as the year's officers John Reppart, president; Jeanie Hunter, vice-president; Susan Sears, secretary.

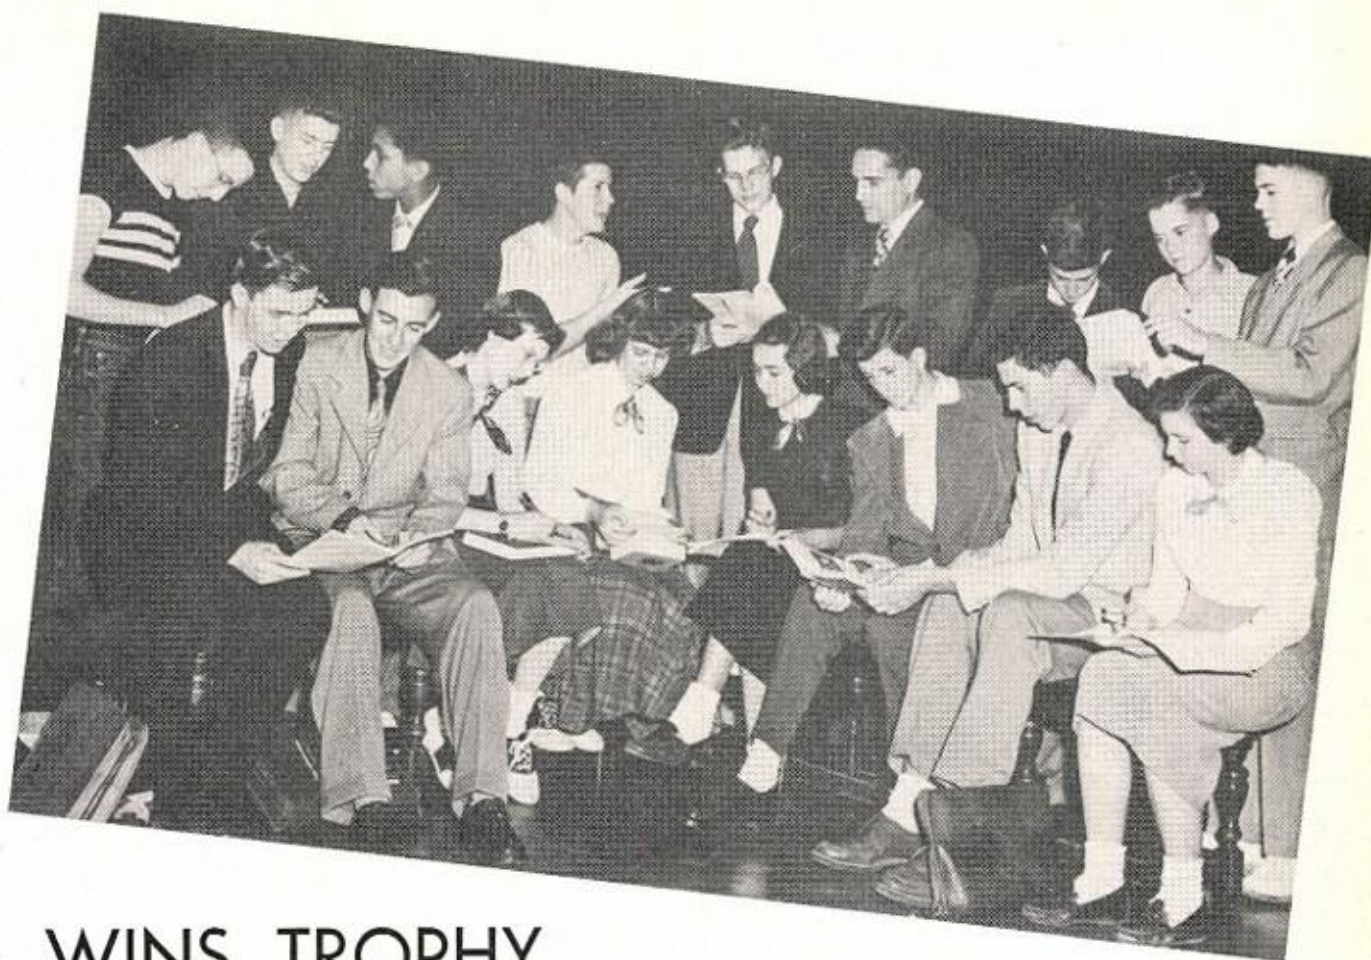

The Masque and Wig, also sponsored by Miss Wheeler, includes a larger number of dramatics members since all Play Production students and anyone who has served on the cast or staff as well as Stage Craft students are automatically a member. Although their meetings are not held regularly an election of officers made Judy Crane president; Jock Miller, vice-president and Jane Grantham, secretary-treasurer.

MASQUE AND WIG SPONSORS PLAY

"GORILLA" SUPPLIES THRILLS

Beware! a gorilla is terrorizing the country! Unconscious sailors fall out of closets. Radios blare mysterious messages. Fear liberally sprinkled with laughs is the keynote of the Masque and Wig play.

Amid the confusion, the "Laurel and Hardy" policemen, Mulligan and Garrity (Tom Coolidge, Ronald Kibler) romp through their roles, messing up the clues, and gayly following red herrings. They and a young reporter, Ilka Simmons (Sidney Beattie) answer the report that a mysterious criminal called the gorilla is scheduled to attack Cyrus Stevens (Dave Wood). Romance is supplied by Cyrus' niece Alice Denby (Carol Cowger) and a young playwright (Bob Brooks). The faithful family butler (John Reppart) is exceedingly sad about the whole thing.

Answering the "who-dun-it" question kept the audience on the edge of their seats but one could not foresee the final O. Henry twist at the end.

"The Gorilla" was under the capable direction of Miss Gertrude Wheeler assisted by student director, Emily Jo Scott.

LITTLE SISTER CAUSES CONFUSION

As large oaks are caused by small acorns, so a gay confusion is created by a small teen-ager, Miriam Wilkins (Mary Welty) when she starts writing letters to servicemen, signed with her older sister's name. Unfortunately, older sister Ruth (Billie Sue Braddy) is already engaged to a banker (Gene Swenson).

The resulting entanglements keep the play moving quickly, with the frustrated and bewildered father (Ted McCoy) as one of the comedy highlights. Men arriving every hour to announce the time and deliver phonograph records and cracker-jacks brings the hilarity to a high point ending in a way satisfactory to all.

Furious, Larry Shiner berates trouble maker, Mary Welty.

Alice Foree, Gene Swenson, Larry Shiner, Billie Sue Braddy, Mary Welty, and Sonnie Scripnopski gaze on as Ted McCoy performs marriage ceremony between John Slater and Ardelle Anderson.

CLUBS STIMULATE INTEREST

WORK BECOMES FUN

The Future Homemakers of America is the national organization of pupils studying home-making in junior and senior high schools. Girls who are enrolled in Home Economics or have taken one year in the ninth grade or higher are eligible for membership.

A square dance party is held, a family is adopted for Christmas and a trip to Kansas State College is taken as part of year's activities. Officers are Lois Alberg, president; Sharon Hansberry, vice-president; Marleen Barthuly, treasurer; and Marjorie Thompson, secretary.

A junior branch of the Kiwanis Club, the Key Club is a group of civic-minded boys meeting each Friday to listen to talks by various prominent businessmen. They annually hold a Sweetheart Dance and as one of their projects this year they are donating a piano to Topeka High.

The students in the Vocational Office Practice and Co-op Classes form the Business Education Club. This group attends a convention of business classes at Emporia where they exchange ideas with groups coming from other parts of the state. Roy Iveson was elected president of the Business and Education Clubs of Kansas at the clubs' third annual state convention.

SCHOOL BENEFITS BY PROCTORS

STUDENTS ASSIST TEACHERS

Countless time is devoted to running our library by the library proctors. While checking out, distributing, and sorting books and magazines is their main job, they are always on hand ready to give information or help students with research.

Every fourth hour the hall proctors, sponsored by E. L. Fink and under the leadership of head proctors Patty Scott and Eddie Ridgeway, can be found stationed in the corridors checking passes and keeping order in the halls during fourth hour.

Each year Miss Fern Taylor, Topeka High's registered nurse chooses capable assistants to help her in various capacities. These proctors are selected on the basis of honesty, personality and courtesy.

As efficient as a group of postmen the office proctors come through, looking up schedules, delivering the never-ending supply of call-slips and memos to students wherever they might be, and aiding the office force in countless ways.

CHECK STAND PROVES BLESSING

CAFETERIA FEATURES NEATNESS

A much needed organization came into being this year under the sponsorship of Charles Shoyer. A group of six regular workers headed by Becky Thacher efficiently take care of wraps at all functions held at the school. These workers and several reserves volunteer their time to render this service.

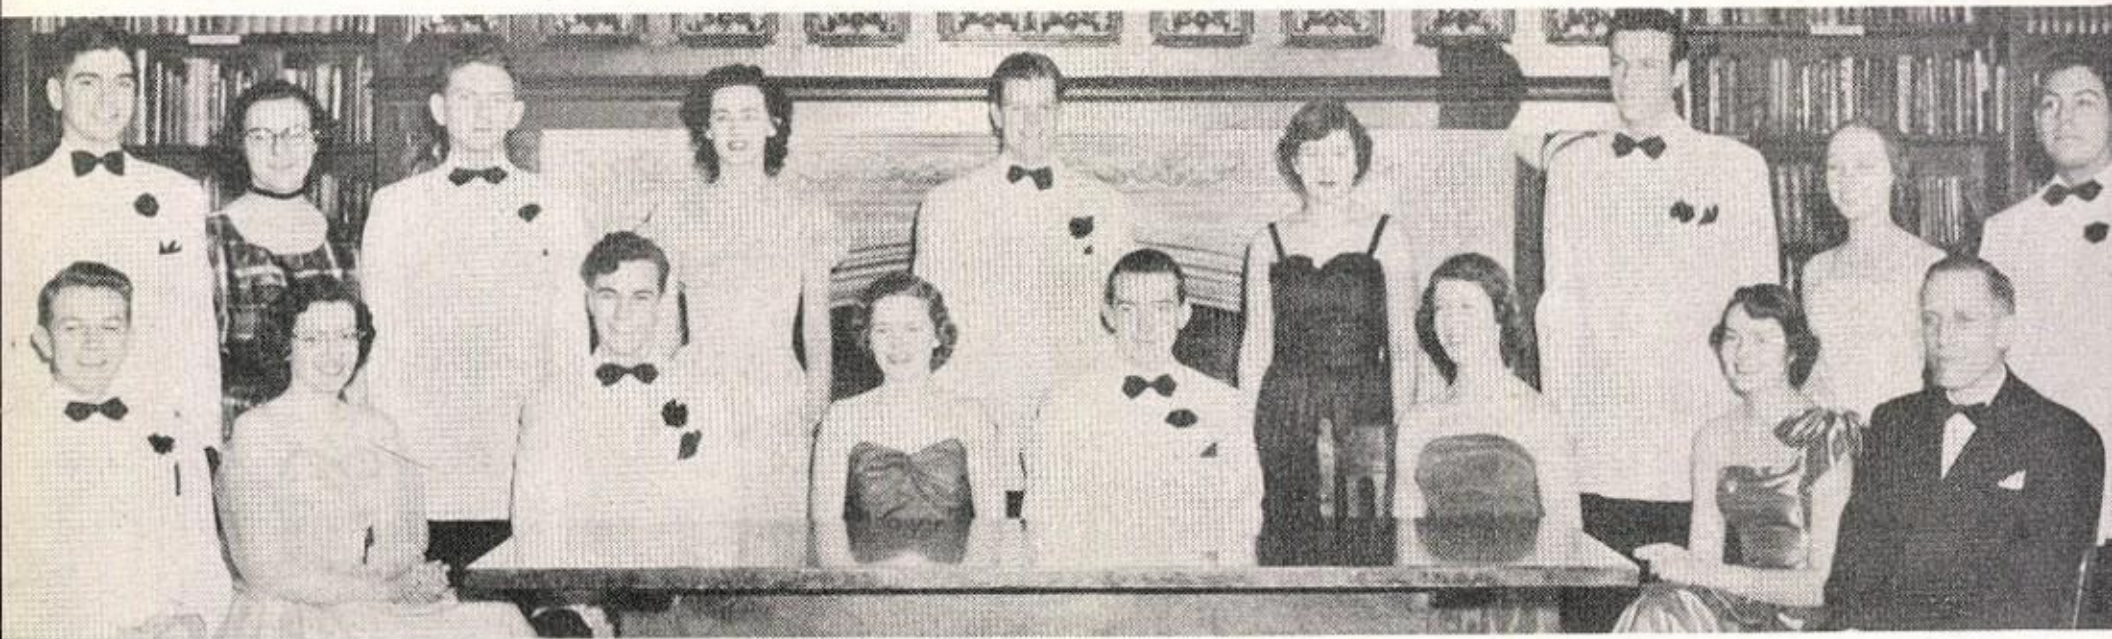

The cafeteria is held together during lunch periods by the aid of hosts and hostesses sponsored by Mrs. Esther Kingman. Their main job is to minimize breakage and to keep order at the tables which are assigned to them. Out of each period is chosen a head host or hostess who checks the condition of the tables at the end of the lunch. This year's head hosts and hostesses are Thelma Smith, Ellen Wolf, Bruce Kirkpatrick, and Mel Sebright.

MUSIC GROUPS REPRESENT SCHOOL

ORGANIZATIONS SING FOR ASSEMBLIES

The best of the singing talent in Topeka High makes up the singers in the Madrigals. As representatives of the Music Department they have one of the heaviest schedules of performances, before civic organizations, conventions, church groups, and even afternoon teas. They are the only outside groups invited to attend the Western Music Festival held at Norcatur, Kansas. Another trip takes them to the National Music Festival at Oklahoma City.

The Choir, largest mixed vocal group, presents as-semblies such as the Easter Assembly, which they give together with the Glee Clubs. Civic clubs, High School, Junior Highs and Grade School students, all enjoy the singing of the Senior Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs. Members are selected the year before by the music teachers. These groups as well as Madrigals are under the guidance of Don M. Gleckler.

Boys' Junior Glee, a group training for advancement for Senior Glee, spends its time learning music fundamentals. It is under the direction of George Neaderhiser.

ENSEMBLES PLAY OUTSIDE SCHOOL

SMALL GROUPS DONATE TIME

Among the many instrumental ensembles, which are made up of students from both band and orchestra, are the String Trio and String Quintet. They have a major part in representing the Music Department at civic clubs, conventions and church programs. They have played music ranging from Beethoven to Cole Porter.

The Brass Ensemble, one of the largest ensembles is mainly confined to programs in our own school and for civic groups. Another important group participating in the small ensemble program is the Flute Quartet. This group has appeared before many of the school and civic organizations during the year. At the Christmas season this group presents many programs for religious services.

BRASS ENSEMBLE—Dan Robison, Alan Van Nice, Bill Thiessen, Floyd Clark, Milton Messick, Clifford Henry, Jack Bruce, Paul Davis, Franklyn Houdek, Byron Beasley, Bernie Stouffer, Dan Haegert.

"NEW MOON"

DRAWS LARGE CROWD

MUSICAL FEATURES VARIED CAST

"The New Moon" shines for three nights on Topeka High's stage with something new every evening. Several of the leading parts are filled by a different singer each night.

A tropical atmosphere surrounds the romance of the proud young Marianne loved by her servant, Robert. Outwardly scorning his love while alone she shows her true feelings in "Lover Come Back to Me." The stirring rhythm of "Stouthearted Men" marks the loyalty of the people who follow Robert and form an independent colony.

Dance tryouts and the self-assured gestures of Alexander add a touch of comedy to make the whole show a grand success!

Top: Tense with excitement, sailors, Robert Brown and Kenneth Blair prepare to man the cannon. Above: June Hartzell and Katy Choguill scrap noisily over the affections of Stan Lamar.

Forty-five dependable students, headed by Miss Bernice Finley, form the Usher Club. People attending plays at the school are greeted by their smiles and ushered efficiently to proper seats. Their services are given free of charge at all activities which require ushering at the school.

The anticipated time that comes to every class, when the teacher announces a movie, is made possible by the Movie Proctors, sponsored by A. M. Seaman. All having had several years of experience in operating movie machines, the movie proctors are capable of handling any crisis which may arise.

BOYS EARN LETTERS IN FOOTBALL

TEAM MAKES GOOD SHOWING

Troy's 1950 grid squad ended its season as the mythical champions of the state of Kansas. Starting with only two regulars back from last year's team, head coach Bob Briggs and new line mentor Otto Bodenhausen coached Troy to the only undefeated season for a Topeka High grid squad since 1940. Topeka was the only major football power in the state to weather the entire year without a loss.

Darrell Peyton, co-captain of the number one team, averaged 5.7 yards everytime he got the ball and copped the full-back spot on the first All-State team. Tackle, Darrell Hill, the other co-captain and guard, Allan Brodecker, were both placed on the reserve squad and center, Frank Willis, made the third eleven. Roger Ginavan, end, and Ted McCoy, tackle, received honorable mention.

Only two ties marred Troy's season record and both blemishes were made by top notch grid powers. Lawrence fought Topeka to a 7-7 deadlock in the second game of the season. Topeka's second tie with Wichita North's Indians battled Troy to 6-all stalemate on the Wichita Field.

Highlighting the season was the Homecoming game when the Trojans took on the Wichita East Blue Aces. East, always a powerhouse in the rugged Ark Valley was trounced 26 to 6 in the only setback they received all year. Throughout the season, Troy sported one of the best lines in Kansas. Otto Bodenhausen stemmed the strongest rushing offenses in the state and paved the way for Troy's all-powerful ground attack.

The memorable season was celebrated by a football banquet in the Topeka High Cafeteria which featured an after dinner talk by Clarence Munn, head coach at Michigan State. For a grand climax Bob Briggs was knighted "Coach of the Year."

QUEEN NANCY

Through an arch of streamers Nancy Bleckley and Jerry Scott make their way toward the royal box.

Highlight of the football season is the homecoming game. Attention during the first half of the game is divided between watching the action on the field and speculating about the identity of the Homecoming Queen.

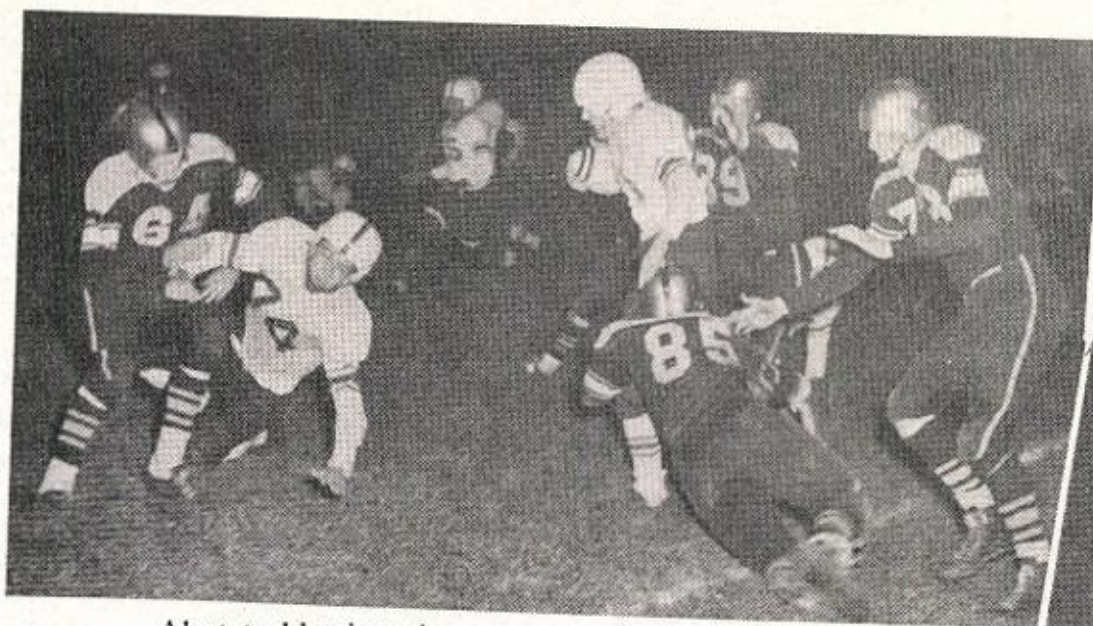

Tension reaches a high point at the half. At last amid loud cheers, colorful balloons floating skyward and music by the band, Nancy Bleckley is escorted through an aisle made by pep club members holding black and gold streamers to form an arch. She is led to her throne by the President of the Student Congress, Jerry Scott, to be officially crowned queen of the 1951 football season.

Accompanied by her attendants, Judy Crane and Marie Baughman, and their escorts, Jock Miller and Jerry Dawson, the queen reigns over the remaining portion of the game from the box reserved for her and her royal party.

Among the new coaches this year Troy welcomed Otto Bodenhausen who tutored the football line and Howard Shannon who instructed the basketball team.

Bob Briggs guided the Trojan varsity through an undefeated grid season with Vernon Hayes and Marvin Bayless coaching the reserves. Robert Gray and Leo Thomas led the "C" team. Swimming was handled by Charles Mills and Wrestling by Floyd Holcomb, as D. L. Erwin coached spring and fall track, copping the state title. W. J. Barnett was tennis mentor, E. L. Fink coached golf and Frank McGrath, Roosevelt Junior High physical education instructor supervised baseball.

Troy did not have the usual "B" team football this year but a reserve squad which was jointly under the direction of head coach Briggs and assistants Hayes and Bayless. Although they did not sport as impressive a win-loss record as did the varsity, the reserves got plenty of experience and training which will be the foundation for continued football success.

"Only those interested in full-time work need apply." This is the main requirement for a cheerleader, for cheerleading is a full-time job. Each year we ask six boys and girls to give us their time and their energy, giving in return our complete co-operation so that together we can back the Trojan team to victory. It isn't an easy job but yet is an honor . . . representing and leading Topeka High. The cheerleaders this year did well in upholding and carrying on this fine tradition.

Those students taking Co-op Retail Selling combine school with work. For two hours in the morning they attend classes, learning how to set up displays, make sales talks, and give change. Afternoons are spent at their job uptown. As a project they sponsor the new Sno-Ball dance, presided over by a queen who is chosen through the votes of those buying tickets. The efficient Game Cadets, supervised by Willard G. Thorpe and Joseph Montes attend all football and basketball games to distribute programs, sell and collect tickets. Their services contribute greatly to the success of our home football and basketball games.

For the relief of those who feel the need of refreshments at football or basketball games, the Concession Stand is always available. The Concession Stand Workers, another group sponsored by Charles Shoyer, are kept busy throughout the games feeding hungry spectators.

After school all Trojans head one direction—toward the Snack Bar. Always swamped with customers, the Snack Bar Workers, sponsored by Charles Shoyer, sell anything from ice-cream bars to shorthand-notebooks.

Sponsored by Francis Modlin, the Inkslingers are a group of twelve boys who take advanced printing and make above average grades. These printers, headed by James Cowhick, president; Dale Ridgeway, vice-president; and George Henton, secretary-treasurer, are responsible for the tickets sold at school events, for the programs for plays and athletic events, and the printing of the "World."

VARSITY TEAM STEPS LIVELY

GAME FULL OF SUSPENSE

Under new coach "Howie" Shannon, the Trojans showed early season greatness by knocking off the Salina Maroons, defending state champs, and unbeaten Parsons, but tough breaks at crucial times kept them from having a really outstanding season, and Topeka wound up at the .500 mark.

Only two of Topeka's losses during the season were side margin defeats, and many of them were two or three point advantages eked out in the final minutes of play. Nevertheless, the Trojan five showed flashes of brilliant playing. They edged their old rivals, the Lawrence Lions, twice in the regular season play and then put them out of the regional tourney by a 26 point margin.

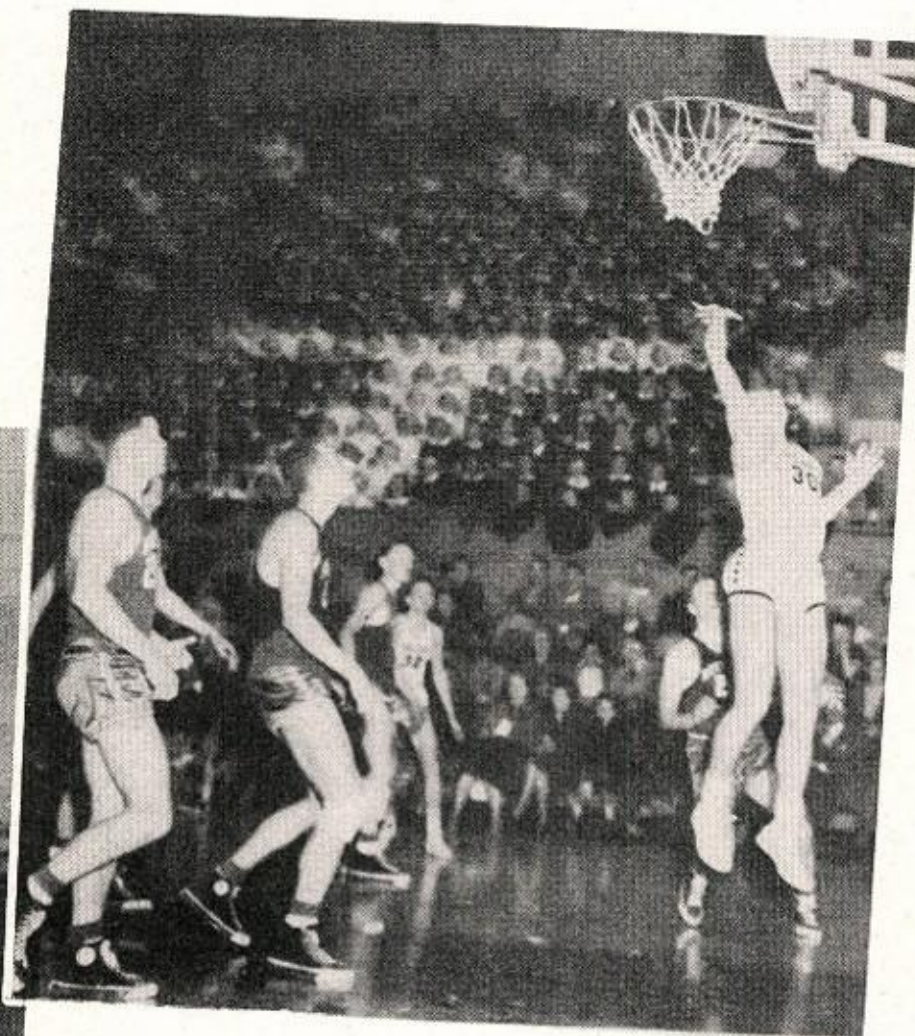

Charles Nelson, center, was the Trojan's leading scorer and back-bone of the team showing competent skill and quick thinking throughout the whole season. "Chuck" was backed by seniors Bill Petersen, Charles Boyd, Mark Devine, Eddie Ridgeway and Mel Sebright.

Coach Shannon did not rely on seniors alone, however. Topeka High had powerful reserve and sophomore squads, and some of the underclassmen saw extensive action with the first team. Junior, Dan Robison, through his fine show of admirable playing worked up from the reserve squad to a starting position with the first five, a difficult feat to accomplish. Juniors George Golliher, John McIntosh, and John Dixon also saw "A" team action. Sophomores Jim Griffith and Jim Humbert went all the way up the ladder, starting on the sophomore squad, and advancing to the reserve team, until they were finally in on some first five competition. Juniors Ivan Malm and Jerry Rosenlund showed good promise of giving support to next year's able squad.

"B" team basketball, headed by Coach Otto Bodenhansen, finished a fast season with a record of fourteen wins against four losses. The sophomores' "C" team got a workout in their seven games of the season as they competed under the direction of Howard Shannon.

In early fall the Trojan Symphony provides music for the State Teachers Association, Music Education Conference and other state organizations. Other than the Spring Concert and the "Pops" Concert for the Trojans, their biggest project is their part in the "New Moon". Their officers are Dave McMullen, president and publicity manager; Paul Davis, business manager; Margaret Nason, co-social chairman and uniform manager; Larry Flickinger, equipment manager; Dan Robison, co-social chairman; Earlene Kirkpatrick, librarian; Jerry Scott, student director.

The Swing Symphony, a smaller group taken from the regular Symphony Orchestra, provides the overture and background music for all the school plays as well as a series of student "Pops" Concerts for the six Junior High Schools. These two organizations are under the direction of Robert Rue and George Neaderhiser.

Whether they are playing at football or basketball games, during an assembly, or on a parade, the Trojan Band, under the direction of Robert Rue and George Neaderhiser, adds life and pep to the occasion.

Mr. Neaderhiser, the new co-director of the Trojan Band, rehearses the many new maneuvers we see presented at games by the marching band. Climax of the season is the concert presented for the student body and the annual spring concert.

PEP CLUBS BACK SCHOOL SPIRIT

STREETS RESOUND WITH CHEERS

Representing our school at home games, the girls in the Pep Club proudly wear their black uniforms with the gold "T's". Their main projects for the year are operating a check stand at home basketball games for the girls in the Pep Club and selling ads for the basketball programs.

The Pep organization is under the guidance of Nancy Bleckley, president; Mary Taggart, vice-president; Mary Michener, secretary; Evie Paramore, treasurer; and Judy Crane, Point and Membership Committee chairman. Sponsors, Miss Jeanne Cooper, Clarence Mul-lenix, Carl Nall, and Mrs. Fayebe Wolfe work with the officers.

Through faithful service to the school teams, girls in the Topeka High Pep Club earn their Honor Pep Club membership, sweaters and emblems. Headed by Betty Turner, chairman, and Miss Mildred Jo Wells, sponsor, the girls in Honor Pep not only cheer at games but also help with the Homecoming activities. As a spring highlight the club sponsors the Apron and Overall Party at which time new initiates are announced.

TROY JANES SPONSOR PARTY

HUSKING BEE PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Pioneer days come to life with cornstalks, square dancing, and the other features that go with the old fashioned "husking bees". The husking bee has become a traditional occasion among the Troy Jane activities.

In completing its fifth year, Troy Janes has become an active organization for girls sports. They are sponsored by Miss Mildred Jo Wells and Miss Jeanne Cooper. The Troy Jane Board is composed of a representative from each physical education class and the senior leaders, girls who have been chosen to assist with a physical education class because of their ability to lead. This board has charge of all the intramural sports which the Troy Janes sponsor.

Identified by their yellow "T" sweaters, members of the "T" club are outstanding athletes in every field of sports. Membership in this group is highly prized with initiation, which always precedes entrance into the society, an annual event.

The cross country track team under the direction of D. L. Erwin breezed through their season completely undefeated, then going to the state meet where they won first place.

Spring track started practice on February 26 to get into shape for nine meets. The season was slowed by cold weather which hindered practice. A good year was forecast by the coach because of the large number of returning lettermen.

ATHLETICS CONTAIN VARIED PROGRAM

Under the guidance of Charles Mills, Topeka High's swimmers completed their most successful season in seven years with four wins and six setbacks. The season was climaxed at Coffeyville where the Trojans captured third place in the state meet. Jack Denton, Jerry Scott, Doane Smith, and Bryce Valley proved to be the stalwarts of the team scoring consistently during the season.

Topeka High wrestlers under the direction of Floyd Holcomb finished the season with three wins in seven outings. Two Trojan grapplers represented Topeka in the state meet. Darrell Hill, after garnering the regional title at Wichita, was crowned champion of the unlimited class at Salina to give Topeka their second state champ in two years. Bill Boon gained state berth by placing third at Wichita. Hill and Boon were named co-captains.

Trojan baseballers, headed by Frank McGrath of Roosevelt Junior High, began a heavy slate in the first part of April. In addition to two games apiece with Border League foes, their schedule included a game with El Dorado. Two returning lettermen, Tom Sleeper and Eddie Ridgeway, added their talent to the promising sophomores.

Nine meets faced the Trojan golfers tutored by E. L. Fink at the opening of the link season. Stan Freidberg and Dick Sargent, returning lettermen, added their experience to the starting quartet. Troy's home matches were held at the Shawnee Country Club.

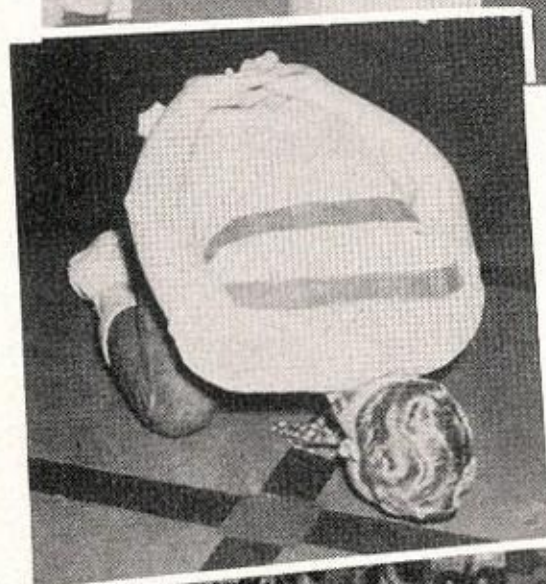

With a new low in returning lettermen the Topeka High tennis team opened a late season. Coached by W. J. Barnett and with a record of over ten years of straight wins behind them, the Trojans began against heavy opposition.

Are you still trying to plan your winter wardrobe? Take your Parker pen, which of course was bought at MOORE'S, and itemize on paper what you will need during the winter. But wait, that pen has given you an idea for Christmas gifts. The list will be headed with Parker and Scheaffer pen and pencil sets from $1.95 up.

One more thing before we list what is needed in our wardrobe. Christmas cards are important in making every Christmas complete. Such cards to be found at HALL'S are illustrated by famous people like Norman Rockwell, Grandma Moses, and Winston Churchill, and they will do much to add the Christmas spirit to your home you may send them. Other cards of a large assortment of covers may be found here to express many varied feelings. Don't forget to include this an item on your Christmas list.

Important occasions will surely arise often during the winter months or over the Christmas vacation when a formal will be of great necessity. JANE LEE'S have the ideal evening wear for anyone. They have all styles and colors in formals made of satins, nets, and taffetas. They are priced from $14.99 to $22.99. Your accessories during the winter must surely include a set of pearls. WOLF'S have earrings, bracelets, and necklaces to match in many different styles. They have "Alva," "Marvella," and cultured pearls by "Imperial" among their assortment. These are priced from $3.50 up.

Many girls add to their winter wardrobe as the weeks pass on instead of buying all at one time. This isn't necessary with the different textures of materials making up the "Jo-Dee" skirts found at the UNION.

Just think we will have all summer to spend together. Maybe we can take up the fight again. Lets hope I can finish that sweater I started for Floyd. Boy is it a real treat to get rid of F.F. For a change I can use my own phone. I wish you would find some boy you really like so we could be together. In all the time we have been around together we have never doubled.

Remember that summer we planned to go to camp. I was never get disappointed. I wish we could have gone. We could have torn the joint apart.

Looks like we will never win when it comes to having good looking neighbors.

Say would you like a job baby sitting with Floyd Jr. In a bout 2 years though!! I think you will make a perfect one.

We didn't see to much of each other the last year but we can make up for that this summer - ?? OK? Maybe we can accomplish more on our swimming.

Love You
Pat

Dear Joann,

For forty-eight years Hall's has sold to the students of Topeka High School their educational supplies. An opportunity to continue that service is solicited by Hall's, who in return, propose to furnish materials of the best quality, satisfactorily priced.

Remember the times at Randolph & Boswell, where we are graduating, it sure doesn't seem like it.

I don't forget our gang, and the sunburns.

I hope we can work together this summer.
Loads of luck
